COMMUNICATION RE: U.S. PATENT OFFICE RECEIPT FOR FACSIMILE TRANSMISSION

Assistant Commissioner for Patents
Washington, D.C. 20231

Sir:

An Amendment and Response for the above-referenced patent application was timely filed on December 27, 2001. In a telephone conference with Examiner Leyson on December 28, 2001, Applicants' Representatives could not confirm that the Amendment and Response had been received by the Examiner. The Examiner could not guarantee that the U.S. Patent Office would grant the initial date of facsimile transmission if the Amendment and Response were re-sent again, in order to test whether the U.S. Patent Office facsimile number would generate a return receipt. Further, the Examiner could not recommend sending a courtesy copy of the Amendment, until the originally filed Amendment and Response could be matched up with the corresponding file.

In order to avoid duplicative copies of the Amendment and Response, Applicants' Representatives submit herewith the Facsimile cover sheet originally transmitted with the Amendment (showing the time and date faxed), and transmission report showing the total number of pages transmitted and amount of time transmission took.

Applicants believe that the Amendment and Response has been received at the U.S. Patent Office, even though a confirmation facsimile receipt was never generated or received.
